Developmentally Appropriate Practice Foundations: Why we do what we do

~~Fee: $45.00~~ New Funding Price $35.00

Best practice in early care and education is based on how children develop and learn in the early years. Developmentally Appropriate Practice is about what you do with that knowledge and how you do it. IT is about joyful play and intentional teaching. It is about predictable structure and flexibility. It is about children being part of a community of caring and each child being recognized as an individual. Developmentally Appropriate Practice is complex and requires both/and thinking by early childhood professionals.

Wisconsin Model Early Learning Standards

~~Fee: $125.00~~ New Funding Price $75.00

The Wisconsin Model Early Learning Standards provide a common language and guidance for families, professionals and policy makers around early childhood education and care. They articulate Wisconsin's Guiding Principles to inform the application of the standards, and, Wisconsin's commitment to young children and families. They also specify developmental expectations for children from birth through entrance to first grade. Developmental domains reflect attention to all the domains of a child's learning and development. Each domain is divided into sub-domains which include developmental expectations, performance standards, and program standards. A developmental continuum, with samples of children's behavior and samples of adult strategies are also included.
